Small Businesses:
Financial Assistance Coming!

With the selection of a program administrator, Valley Metro and the city of Phoenix has launched the Small Business Financial Assistance Program (SBFAP). This is a one-year pilot program to provide direct financial assistance to locally owned, small businesses immediately adjacent to construction along the Northwest Extension Phase II light rail corridor.

The SBFAP currently offers two tiers of financial assistance that can be applied for annually. In Tier I, businesses can receive $3,000 during the pilot year or they can opt to apply for Tier II where they can receive up to $9,000 depending on their demonstrated business impact. SBFAP funds are intended to support and help to sustain these small businesses and can be used to offset business operational expenses, such as rent/mortgage, utilities, insurance and/or payroll.

What's Next?

Valley Metro and the administrator are working quickly to develop the process for businesses to apply for the funds. We will keep you up to date on the latest progress; check the project website for updates and to sign up for email notifications.

Prepare Yourself

As the application process is developed, there are things you can do so that you are ready to submit your application.

For Tier I, prepare documentation that your business:

- Operates at an eligible location.
- Is in good standing with all taxing and licensing authorities.
- Is locally owned.
- Has 15 or fewer employees and $500,000 or less in annual revenues.
- In operation since July 28, 2020 (the start of construction)

For Tier II, all of the above, plus documentation that your business:

- Experienced a loss in revenue equal to or greater than the assistance amount requested.
- Has been in operation at least one year prior to the start of construction.

We Can Help

Through Valley Metro's Business Assistance program, we can help you prepare so that you're ready when the application process opens. Contact your Business Assistance Coordinator:

PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT

Planning and Development Staff Fast-Track Development Fighting COVID-19

The state of Arizona continues to receive hundreds of thousands of COVID vaccines, and as more are on the way the need for the proper storage is essential.

The city of Phoenix Planning and Development Department has been vital to getting the storage facilities up and running with very specific requirements. The Pfizer vaccine requires cold storage at minus 94 degrees F, far lower than the typical freezers in use at medical centers for other vaccines. Planning and Development staff expedited the reviews and inspections for both Mayo Clinic Hospital and Langham Logistics. Mayo had to make some significant electrical upgrades to add 10 new freezers to its vaccine storage system. The plan review process, which is normally performed in-house, was accommodated in the field. The city's Planning and Development staff helped contractors work through issues and get the approval of plans immediately to get the freezers up and running and ready for shipments.

Langham Logistics, located at 7200 W. Roosevelt St., is a 64,870-square-foot warehouse being converted for cold storage use. The large-scale project requires a fast turnaround for plans and for inspections and staff was able to get the facility running under a Temporary Certificate of Occupancy while other items are being finalized.

"It is not just the vaccine, it is everything related to the pandemic," said Phoenix Building Official Stephen Dudley. "The urgency and scale of the COVID-19 pandemic have required the city of Phoenix Planning and Development Department staff to respond quickly to projects at every phase of the pandemic, including setting up testing sites, building research labs, upgrades to hospital facilities and construction of vaccine cold storage facilities. Our staff has taken great pride in their work on these projects and the contributions they are making to fight this pandemic, knowing the work they do is aimed at saving lives."

Over the past several months, staff has also been working to expedite a COVID-19 research lab at 5020 N. Black Canyon Highway and an N95 mask manufacturing facility at 2145 S. 7th St.

POLICE

Phoenix Police K-9 Dennis is Back to Work After Being Shot in the Line of Duty

K-9 Dennis jumps around the obstacle course at the Phoenix Police Department's Regional K-9 Training Center. He's healthy, happy and a little yappy.

It's hard to believe that just last month this same police dog was shot in the line of duty—a single round that went through his lip and then down into his chest, where it fragmented into four pieces.

In the early morning hours of Dec. 3, 2020, K-9 Dennis led officers into an apartment where witnesses said there may be an armed suspect. The police dog searched the front rooms before moving toward the back of the apartment.

That's when the suspect fired. K-9 Dennis was hit, but officers were not.

The dog was rushed to the hospital by his handler. He received stitches, and eventually went home for rest and rehabilitation. His handler said after a couple days, the six-year-old Malinois was showing signs of recovery. After a few weeks, he was nearly back to himself.

Once K-9 Dennis was physically well enough, he went through some training with his handler—including gun fire training, building search training, and bite work—to make sure he was mentally fit to return to the job. He passed all those with flying colors, and is officially back to duty, protecting and serving the city of Phoenix.

To watch the story of K-9 and his recovery, please click here.
