

The Weekly Connection Newsletter for City of Phoenix Employees • March 14, 2018

ABOVE AND BEYOND

It was anything but an ordinary day last week for Public Works employee Scott O'Connor. On March 6, the garbage truck driver was on his route near 51st Ave. & Coolidge when he saw a house on fire.

Without hesitation, Scott got out of his garbage truck and ran to see if anyone was inside. Scott knocked on the door repeatedly and was able to let the family inside know what was going on. A woman, her two grandchildren and two great grandchildren were able to get out safely. Scott then dialed 911 to contact the fire department. The family is grateful for the driver's quick action.

Scott's heroics were featured on the local news where he talked about his experience.

BE IN THE KNOW ...

Did you know, you no longer have to live in the city of Phoenix to receive the city's PHX at Your Service Newsletter? Just sign up with your email and it will be delivered to your inbox each month.

CITY COUNCIL MEETINGS

If you watch City Council meetings on Phoenix.gov, you'll now have an improved experience. With the help of Information Technology Services, the city added an additional opportunity for people to view the meetings by streaming via the Granicus platform.

This system helps reduce buffering and delays due to significant increases in viewer traffic during high profile council meetings. This will help employees who experienced issues with older web browsers or YouTube. Key enhancements:

- Streaming is available on all popular browsers, including Google Chrome and mobile devices
- Closed captions will be available for live-streamed meetings
- Sharing of live streams on social media platforms
- Improved picture quality and improved reliability

To watch, just go to Phoenix.gov when a meeting begins or anytime on PHXTV's web page.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

BETTER YOU. BETTER US.

The City of Phoenix University (CPU) Adjunct Faculty Program is seeking volunteers to join their team of leaders who are passionate about teaching others. This program is open to all, so consider these questions:

- Are you looking for ways to grow your high performers?
- Do you see the leaders of tomorrow in your team?
- Can your department benefit by having more staff with effective presentation and facilitation skills?

If you said yes, then the Faculty Program may be the avenue you've been looking for. Through this one-year development program, members will grow the skills necessary to articulate a clear and compelling message with a targeted call to action, while keeping their audience engaged.

There are opportunities, for example, to teach Microsoft Office skills or people relating skills. On the MS track, faculty members teach classes on Word, PowerPoint, Excel, Outlook/Skype or Office 365. There is a large demand for these classes as the power of these programs are frequently not realized. The other track will provide opportunities to help peers develop the skills to relate better, resolve conflict and provide better service.

Follow this link and click on the Adjunct Faculty tab to learn more and to apply. The deadline is April 6.

Changes to beneficiaries can be made by completing the beneficiary form on the COPERS website. Included with this year's statement will be information about preparing for retirement and the timing of retirement applications. If you have any questions, please call the Retirement Office at (602) 534-4400.
